

LOCK BLOCK

Lock Blocks are rapidly becoming the preferred material for construction for a wide variety of retaining structures, where cost, flexibility and construction time are critical factors. This versatile, modular system can be readily adapted to almost any situation.

Thiessen Team modular blocks are form poured and the standard weight and dimensions are displayed. We also have the capacity to custom design blocks to meet your requirements.

Thiessen Team has a ready inventory of Lock Blocks to assist in continual progress of your structural development.
